OAMRS Awards

Each year, OAMRS provides the opportunity to its members to showcase their expertise and innovation through an awards nomination process. Members in good standing with both the OAMRS and CMRITO may be nominated for seven awards depending on which award criteria is suitable. The Awards Committee is comprised of professionals within the medical radiation sciences profession and are selected by OAMRS executive for a three-year, voluntary term. Nominations are reviewed by the committee and judged based on a select criteria. The Awards Committee anonymously votes and chooses an award winner in six categories (the seventh award is voted on by the membership and confirmed by the Awards Committee.)

An Awards Gala is held each year (unless due to unforeseen circumstances, at which point alternative methods of recognition will be determined) to recognize the award winners and celebrate their commitment and dedication to the medical radiation sciences profession.

Awards Description and Criteria

Mary F. Cameron Leadership Award

Honouring the memory of the association founder, Mary F. Cameron, this prestigious award is presented to the practitioner who has made outstanding contributions to medical radiation sciences, and who has demonstrated a tremendous impact through selfless devotion to their practice. This award is for MRTs and/or Sonographers who have earned the respect of their coworkers with their pioneering spirit and willingness to push the envelope to better serve patients, coworkers and/or contribute to the success of their department/organization and/or reputation of the profession.
